An Excerpt from The Family

"Kate Fitzgerald sat in the dock, her hands clasped in her lap. She stared straight ahead, her face expressionless. She had been charged with the murder of her husband, Richard.

The trial had been going on for weeks, and the evidence against Kate was damning. Witnesses had testified that she had been planning to leave Richard, and that she had even threatened to kill him.

Kate's lawyer argued that she had acted in self-defense, but the jury didn't seem to be buying it. They were about to retire to deliberate, and Kate knew that her life hung in the balance.

She closed her eyes and took a deep breath. She had to stay strong. She had to believe that she would be found innocent.

But as she listened to the jury foreman read out the verdict, her heart sank. "Guilty."
