History of The Salvation Army

The Salvation Army was founded in 1865 by William Booth, a Methodist minister in London, England. Booth was inspired to start The Salvation Army after witnessing the poverty and despair of the East End of London. Booth believed that the church should not only preach the gospel, but also provide practical assistance to those in need.

The Salvation Army quickly grew from a small group of volunteers to a global organization. By the end of the 19th century, The Salvation Army had established operations in the United States, Canada, Australia, and New Zealand. Today, The Salvation Army is one of the largest social service organizations in the world.
